Find Body of Peter Damlos In Lake Marie

Mystery Still Surrounds the Death of Kidnap-Robbery Victim

Whether or not the mystery that surrounds the death of Peter J. Damlos, whose body was found in Lake Marie Saturday, will be solved seems increasingly doubtful.

Damlos, a 44-year-old beer distributor living at Channel Lake, on Route 173, had been missing from his home since late last Tuesday night.

That afternoon he had reported to Morton Grove, Ill., police that he had been held up and robbed of $775 while on his way to Chicago to pay a bill he owed to a beer manufacturer. Four men in a sedan had held him up on Route 59 near Route 63, he said, and had taken his money and automobile, holding him captive for several hours.

Released near the intersection of Routes 54 and 22, he had made his way to Wheeling, where he got in touch with police.

A car was later found abandoned at Wheeling.

After answering questions of Lake county sheriff's deputies, Damlos returned to his home Tuesday evening. He retired to sleep about 12 o'clock.

In the morning when his helper arrived, he was gone. Some alarm was felt over his disappearance when his fishing pole, ordinarily kept on the porch of his home, was discovered stuck in the bank of the channel. Antioch firemen were called, and dragged the channel in an effort to learn whether the body was there.

Found by James Lynch

Saturday morning when James Lynch of the state conservation department was checking on the depth of the water in Lake Marie near the shore, the fishing pole he was using touched an object which he discovered was a body. It was brought to shore by Antioch firemen and identified as that of Damlos.

At a coroner's inquest held at the Strange funeral home in Antioch Saturday at 12:30 o'clock, a verdict of "death by drowning in the channel on the north side of Lake Marie" was returned. It was impossible to discover from the evidence whether the death was due to accident, suicide or foul play, it was stated.

The body was taken to Chicago by relatives who came here to claim it, and services were held there, with burial in Montrose cemetery.

Damlos was not known to have any enemies, unless he had made them in Chicago before coming to Lake county to live; and his affairs were said to be in good shape. He was said not to have been unduly excited over his reported experiences Tuesday, although he had discussed them with friends before going to bed Tuesday night.

His keys and money were found on a table in his home Wednesday morning.

Stage Drama Season Starts At Crystal

Tonight will mark the opening of the J. B. Rojnour Players at the Crystal Theatre for a series of Thursday night performances. This year, the company as usual is playing here in cooperation with Antioch business firms whose names are found listed in the Crystal ad. The merchants listed there give free tickets to the performances, which, plus a ten cent service charge at the box office will admit the holder.

The company is larger than ever before. Mr. Rojnour says, and it includes some new faces together with several old members including the comedian, Jimmy LeRoy.

Tonight's play will be "Too Much Mother-in-Law," and next week's presentation will be "Mrs. O'Flynn's Boarding House," a drama with a touch of the underworld and an abundance of comedy. The doors are open at 7:30 and curtain at 8:15.

Hunter Struck in Eye By Pellet, Recovering

Earl Gibbs, manager of the Antioch Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store, is recovering from injuries to his eye suffered when he was struck by a stray bird-shot as he was hunting at one of the lakes Tuesday. The shot grazed the rini of the eye, but the after-effects will not prove serious, it is reported.

Charles E. Jack, secretary, and James N. Finn, treasurer, were also re-elected. Three vice-presidents will be appointed later.

A turkey dinner followed the business session and election, which were held at the Glen Flora Country club. The club is to have its November meeting in Antioch.

A banquet was held, with George McGaughey of Waukegan as toastmaster, and dancing followed the installation.

Chief Stearns and his inspectors have expressed themselves as being well pleased with the inspection covering the mercantile district of Antioch during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14.

Wiring Worst Hazard

Of the few fire hazards that were found in the basements and other parts of the business buildings, open electric wiring was the worst, they stated.

The chief has announced that in the near future a general survey will be made of the business houses with a view to forming a plan for having dangerous wiring replaced with arrangements acceptable to underwriters' wiring requirements, so that cheaper insurance rates may be had.

The firemen have announced that they were delighted with the large attendance at the "Open House" they held at the fire station Friday. In addition to the adults who took advantage of the opportunity to inspect

Antioch's fire-fighting equipment, grade school children visited the station and were presented candy by the fire laddies.

The fire inspector, Assistant Chief

Herman Rosing, with Captain Herman Holliek and Lieutenant John L.

Horan, visited all schools in the First fire district, which includes Antioch township, during the week.

Schools Empty Fast

The fire alarm system in Antioch

Grade school was tested and the school was emptied in 35 seconds.

A similar test at Antioch Township

High School resulted in emptying the building in 75 seconds.

A fire alarm Sunday at 1:45 called out three companies to the residence of John Gaa (a member of the fire department), where it was found that a large woodpile of railroad ties was on fire. Sparks from a small bonfire nearly had started the blaze, it was reported.

Quick work on the part of the firemen extinguished the flames with no loss, and possible damage to nearby property was prevented.

Describes Game Refuge Work For Rod And Gun Club

William A. Austin, Conservation Authority Speaks at Meeting

His experiences in conducting his 1,200 acre game preserve in the Nipperk basin south of Richmond were interestingly described by William A. Austin in a talk given for the Antioch Rod and Gun club last Thursday evening in the Antioch Township High School auditorium.

Austin, an authority on the feeding and care of game birds, told of the varying degrees of success he had had with different kinds of food for wild fowl. He also commented on the conservation and feeding of ducks and the increase in pheasants throughout Illinois.

The speaker, who was formerly connected with the Illinois department of agriculture, leased a tract of more than 920 acres of land 3 years ago, in addition to his own 280-acre farm, to provide ample room for his game preserve project.

He has been interested in game conservation for more than a score of years.

His work with the game refuge—one of the largest of its kind ever attempted in northern Illinois—is being watched with attention by conservation workers.

He was also a speaker before the Rod and Gun club last year, making his return visit this fall by special request.

An election of officers was to have been held during the club's business session, but this has been postponed to a later meeting, and will probably take place some time in November.

The Politics of Peace

"I resent any attempt in the name of emergency to stampede the Republican Party into becoming a mere rubber stamp for Administration proposals."

This, in brief, is the answer given by John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National committee, to attempts on the part of the New Deal to silence all opposition. It was one of the most important statements of policy enunciated by Chairman Hamilton.

He pointed out that the Republican Party does not intend to engage in politics just for the sake of politics. But it does expect to pursue the politics of principles; the battle under a two-party system to maintain representative government.

First, Mr. Hamilton pointed out, there is no war in America. No guns are leveled at our heads. No ultimatums have been delivered. And, so long as there is peace, the processes of peace are sufficient.

"The result of the adjournment of politics in 1933," Mr. Hamilton said, "is that millions of unemployed still walk our streets and our national debt has reached an all-time high. The mistake of 1933 must not be repeated."

"Nothing would be more disastrous than an adjournment of politics which would permit a blackout of urgent domestic problems."

Instead, he said, we must "direct our efforts toward a useful and permanent recovery."

Challenge to Politicians

Soak the rich and help the little fellow, has been for years the general premise upon which our tax "system" has just "grown." It is based upon deceit and maintained by deceit. The "little fellow," who can more properly be called America's vast working middleclass, has borne the brunt of this deceit, although he does not realize it.

There are not enough "rich" people in the United States to maintain the Federal government for more than a brief period, even if every nickel they possessed were confiscated. Politicians know the futility of "soaking the rich." But many have not the integrity to admit it publicly. They deliberately advocate the continued spread, in one form or another, of the vicious practice of "hidden taxation," in spite of the fact that the practice, if not curbed, will spell ultimate ruin to the nation and the individual citizen.

Tax hypocrisy in this nation must be shown up. The tax base must be broadened so that all persons pay direct taxes, instead of indirect assessments which they do not realize, but which pull them into a feeling of temporary security which does not exist.

Here is a challenge to our politicians to drop hypocrisy for the sake of solvent fiscal sanity, for the benefit of the nation, even if it costs them temporary loss of votes.

A Welcome Sign

One possibility that has been the concern of thoughtful citizens of this republic of ours is that, in the excitement and uncertainty caused by the European war, we will neglect keeping our domestic house in order.

A cheering example pointing in the opposite direction is the news that the Smith Congressional Committee in Washington plans to go right ahead with its investigation of the National Labor Relations Board, which administers the so-called Wagner Act.

The first step is being taken now as approximately 50,000 questionnaires go into the mails addressed to business men, employees and union officials. The purpose of the questionnaire is to learn from all parties concerned their experiences with the National Labor Relations Board.

It is not certain when hearings before the five-man House Committee will get under way. Chairman Smith hopes to be able to start hearings in October but it is reported hearings may be delayed until investigators can get more deeply into the problem. There is some consideration being given to holding preliminary hearings in cities outside of Washington.

Many at the Capitol who feared the turn of European events would bog down interest in the Labor Board investigation now see the emergency as making the probe more important and generating interest. In this connection, witness the wider interest in the Dies Committee probe of un-American activities since the Committee released the inquiry to national defense.

Chairman Smith of the Labor Committee recognized this when he told reporters: "The committee intends to speed its work in view of the European situation in order to make recommendations for correction of present labor disturbances in order that our productive capacity may not suffer in case of future emergency."

And this attitude on the part of a group which is the chosen representative of Congress is a welcome sign to the country as a whole, an evidence of a sane approach during a time of great international stress and strain.

Busy Bee

A honey bee goes about four miles on a trip and may take as many as 10 or 12 trips a day. A good hive of bees in a good location can produce a pound of honey in three-quarters of an hour, or about 20 to 22 pounds a day. It has been estimated by the department of agriculture experts that a pound of honey represents the life work of approximately 1,000 bees, a bee's working life averaging about three weeks. It takes about 20,000 "bee-lods" of nectar to weigh one pound. This will make about one-quarter of a pound of honey.

First Interview

The first presidential interview was held when George Washington decided to retire from the presidency. He sent for David C. Claypoole, editor of the Daily Advertiser in Philadelphia. After explaining his plans to Claypoole, he informed him that he had some reflections upon the occasion which he wished to communicate to the people of the United States through the Daily Advertiser. Claypoole was given a copy of the Farewell address, which he published in his paper in the edition of September 19, 1796.

Norway's Platinum Fox

One of Norway's rare animals is the platinum fox. It can best be seen in pelts in the fine shops of Oslo. The platinum fox is a mutation of the silver. Only some 300 pairs of it are now in existence and its pelts are among the most valuable of all furs. While Norway has few of it, the country has more than 20,000 silver fox farms and is the leading land of Europe in producing those pelts.

City With Streets of Gold

Dawson City, Yukon Territory, may be said to have streets of gold. After the recovery of the main gold content of gravel originally washed down from above the Klondike valley, hundreds of tons of waste in which a trace of gold still remained were used to grade the roads in and around the town. The actual gold content remaining is, of course, very small.

THE CITIZENS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

Great and historic discourses are preserved with care and are read by succeeding generations with profit and interest even though they are recognized to be the utterances of weak and fallible men. The lesson before us presents what is undoubtedly the greatest single discourse ever uttered by any teacher or statesman or philosopher in the whole history of the human race' (Smith). Take up your Bible and read the words of the text.

These verses are addressed to believers, to those who have actually taken Christ as king of their lives. These beatitudes are not a substitute for the gospel. They are not laws that the unbeliever can keep and thus be saved; for this would be utterly impossible for anyone to do, except the one who has been born again. Only he who knows and has called upon the power and grace of God in Christ can qualify to walk as a citizen of His kingdom.

I. The Christian's King (vv. 1, 2).

The words which fell from the blessed lips of the Lord Jesus on that day as He sat on the mountain-side were not the powerless declarations of an earthly philosopher or statesman, but of the Son of God who had humbled Himself and become the Son of Man who was still the King of kings and the Lord of lords. If you have not given glad and free allegiance to Him, do it now and you will then be ready to go on and learn of the Christian's character and influence which may be your possession in Christ.

II. The Christian's Character (vv. 3-12).

The eight characteristics of the Christian here presented are worthy of extended individual attention, but we can offer only brief suggestions.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit," speaks of humility as a commendable quality. How contradictory the present-day philosophy which calls for self-assertion and self-reliance. But Jesus is not mistaken. The way into the kingdom of heaven is not that of assertive self-sufficiency.

"Blessed are they that mourn." The world does not believe that statement. It shuns the house of mourning. It tries without avail to philosophize away the fact of sorrow. The Christian, on the other hand, feels with his fellow man and thus receives a blessing.

"I walked a mile with Pleasure,
She sheltered me all the way;
But left me none the wiser
For all she had to say."

"I walked a mile with Sorrow,
And ne'er a word said she;
But oh, the things I learned from her
When Sorrow walked with me."

"Blessed are the meek." Ah, yes, poverty of spirit comes when a man rightly sees himself, and has a sympathetic touch with sorrow. Then he "inherits the earth," because he truly comes to enjoy it as a place of service and Christian growth, and not because he has a deed to a single foot of its soil.

"Note that it is the hunger and thirst for righteousness, and not the possession of it, that is blessed" (Plummer). Self-satisfied people know nothing of the glory of having such a hunger and thirst filled by God.

III. The Christian's Influence (vv. 13-18).

"Salt" and "light"! What pungent and powerful folk are the real followers of Christ!

Salt fights against rotteness, keeps things sweet and fresh. Dr. J. H. Jewett says, Christians "are to confront rotteness" in politics; they are to meet it in the realm of business; they are to make for it in the field of sport; they are to be its enemies in the crowded streets of common intercourse; they are to defeat it in the quiet and sequestered ways of art and literature; everywhere they are to provide the antidote to corruption, and they are to overcome and destroy it."

Light has one function, namely, to illuminate. Wickedness and sin always love darkness, because their deeds are evil (read John 3:19-21). If Christ really dwells in us we cannot help but shed light about us wherever we go—a divine light which drives out the darkness of sin, of ignorance, of superstition, and replaces it with the sunlight of God.

Lion Hunter Is

Scion of Ancient British Family Is Guilty of Killing Cyclist.

LONDON.—As a penalty for killing a young cyclist, a member of one of England's richest families has been sentenced to three years' penal servitude and disqualification from driving for 20 years.

He was told by Mr. Justice Charles, who presided: "You have been found guilty, and very properly, of an bad a case of manslaughter by driving a car in a criminally negligent manner as I can well imagine. You drove like a lunatic."

"It is only by the intervention of Providence that you have not more deaths at your door. Your sentence must necessarily, not only from a punitive point of view, but as a deterrent to others, be severe."

The judge's words were listened to without a sign by the prisoner at the bar.

Capt. Raymond Vincent de Trafford, 39 years old, of Birmingham, England, salesman, lion hunter, point to point rider, former guards officer, divorced husband of Chicago's Alice Silverthorne, son of the late sportsman, Sir Humphrey de Trafford, brother of the present baronet of that name, a line descended from William the Conqueror.

Manslaughter Is Charged.

De Trafford was accused of the manslaughter at Cheltenham of Victor Edwin Drinkwater-Lunn, 19 years old, of Cheltenham.

Prosecutor Cartwright Sharp stated that the case related to a section of about seven miles of the Evesham road from Beckford to Cheltenham race course.

De Trafford had a glass of beer at the Beckford hotel, but showed no signs of intoxication.

At the Beckford hotel a gardener, William John Hopkins, 63 years old, wanted to get to Cheltenham, and De Trafford gave him a lift.

Hopkins asked him not to drive so fast, but De Trafford said: "Are you nervous?" laughed, and drove on even faster and on the wrong side.

After they had gone three miles De Trafford bumped into the back of a truck, but drove on.

Cautioned by Passenger.

He drove on, and came to where a cyclist was approaching.

He was still on the wrong side of the road, and Hopkins shouted to him to get on one side and avoid the cyclist.

There was a collision and the cyclist shot over the hedge and was killed.

When the police arrived De Trafford kept on repeating that it was the cyclist's fault because he had not got a rear light.

This, Prosecutor Sharp commented, was rather peculiar, as the cyclist was approaching him.

De Trafford, in evidence, stated he had had a number of riding accidents, and some years ago he was shot in the stomach and nearly died.

He had always been of a nervous temperament and was worse after the shooting accident.

The reason he was on his wrong side when he struck the cyclist was that he was overtaking a car and the cyclist was hidden by an oncoming car. He did not see the cyclist.

The first he knew of the accident was his windscreen breaking and Hopkins saying: "You have killed a man."

The jury was absent 13 minutes before finding De Trafford guilty of manslaughter.

Crazed Captain Gives 20Tourists Terrifying Ride

STOCKHOLM.—Twenty tourists returned with shattered nerves from a pleasure cruise between Oscarshamn and Oland island aboard the steamer Jarl. They said that Capt. E. Anderson suddenly went mad. He first ordered the ship full speed ahead, then full speed back, over and over again.

When the first mate tried to persuade him to leave the bridge the captain knocked him down. Passengers joined the crew in subduing the captain. Before being locked in his cabin, however, the skipper assaulted one passenger, nearly strangled a stewardess, and broke loose long enough to toot the SOS signal whistle.

The first mate took the ship to Oscarshamn, where the captain was detained. He pleaded that he had suffered a nervous breakdown, and did not know what he was doing.

Worker on Sand Is Drawn Into Big Concrete Mixer

LONDON.—Richard Mortindale, 32, was killed here when he was dragged with 18 tons of sand into a huge concrete mixer.

He was supervising the pouring of large quantities of sand into the mixer, when a blockage occurred in the narrow neck of the funnel and checked the flow. To make it flow more easily he jumped on the sand in the mouth of the hopper. It was at this moment that the sand freed itself. As Mortindale jumped the sand sucked him down into the mixer.

1940 Chevrolets Make Their Bow

Three series of passenger cars, re-designed in the new "Royal Clipper" styling, and embodying numerous mechanical improvements to assure greater safety and comfort as well as finer performance, comprise Chevrolet's new line for 1940, introduced today. All series are much larger, overall length being increased 4½ inches. The new exclusive vacuum power shift (lower left) is now regular equipment on all models of all series at no extra cost. Special De Luxe series, the Sport Sedan of which is shown at center, has a new T-spoke steering wheel with horn-blowing ring (upper right). Lower right, the 1940 Chevrolet six-cylinder valve-in-head engine, which has been improved for smoother, quieter operation, and extremely long life.

The Observer

For those of us who mis-lay keys, hats and umbrellas, there is some comfort in the thought that Uncle Sam has mis-laid a whole group of islands—the Los Jardines out in the Pacific. Since 1926 both naval and merchant marine vessels of the United States and Japan have been looking for them. As a matter of fact they've been missing quite a while—since 1788, when Captain Marshall of the British ship Scarborough visited them.

Last Thursday was Columbus Day, in which the New World paused to pay tribute to that great and intrepid explorer. And, as in so many other affairs—there's a woman in the case. If it had not been for the faith—not to mention the wisdom—of Isabella of Castile, who thought that if he could risk his life she could risk her jewels on the outcome of his first voyage—America might have waited a little longer before being discovered. Of course, maybe the Indians wouldn't have minded.

Now that Communistic Russia and anti-Communistic Germany are getting along so agreeably, the theme song for European affairs at the present time seems to be "Heil, heil, the gang's all here."

Speaking of Heils, we see by the papers where Wisconsin's governor has set Turkey Day for Nov. 30. And it seems there's a street in South Beloit where the south part of the street is in Illinois and the north part in Wisconsin. So when the folks on the south side of the street are eating their turkey and fixin's, it'll be only Nov. 23 to those on the north side. And by the time the first bunch is cleaning up on the last batch of turkey hash, their neighbors across the way will just be starting out to give the good old carving knife its annual sharpening.

They might ask each other over to spend Thanksgiving Day.

Call Attention to Value of Early Tuberculin Tests

A statement received today from the Illinois Tuberculosis Association explains why it is good practice to tuberculin test children in the first grade, in kindergarten, or even at preschool age examinations. The statement also explains the significance of a positive reaction to the tuberculin test in the child six years of age or less.

With dairy herds in the middle west free from tuberculosis infection as a result of the wide-spread tuberculin testing of cattle, and with the major portion of the milk now being used by children having been pasteurized before use, there is a very low incidence of infection with tuberculosis as a result of children drinking milk containing tubercle bacilli, the germs of tuberculosis. Therefore, for all practical purposes, the public should consider that an infection in a child has come only as a result of close contact with some persons who has tuberculosis. Many people have tuberculosis and do not know it because tuberculosis is a disease which has no symptoms in its early stages.

A clinic under the auspices of the Lake County Tuberculosis association will be held Friday morning, Oct. 20, from 8:30 to 11 a.m. in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan. Clinics are also sponsored by the association on Wednesday mornings. Appointments should be made at the office of the association, telephone Majestic 1805, according to Ophelia L. Fire Insurance Man Offers Hints on Fire Prevention

Home Is Worst Place for Fire Hazards, Reports Authority

The truth of the old expression "safe at home" is open to doubt, according to L. W. Bowman, of the Employers' Mutual Fire Insurance company. Figures he quotes in a recent bulletin raise a serious question about this time-honored assumption. "Of all the fires occurring in the United States, and this includes all property—manufacturing, mercantile, warehouses, shipyards, that property surrounding our industrial and commercial life—sixty-seven per cent occur in homes. Seventy-six per cent of all lives lost because of fire are lost because of fires in homes. Considering all the different classes of property besides homes, the percentage is astounding. Reckoned in dollars and cents, of the annual fire losses in the United States, 33 per cent is lost on dwelling property.

Why are there so many fires in dwellings causing such a high per cent of the total fire loss? The only conclusion we can reach is that we are less careful, less safety conscious, when we are at home. Still a fire loss in the home might mean death or terrific pain to someone near, while a fire in a business establishment may merely result in financial loss.

"Fires start like magic. Set the scene with the right conditions, forget about it, and fire will ensue. Take spontaneous combustion for instance. Any combustible material is a potential menace if vegetable or animal oil is present because the natural oxidation of that oil generates heat which may ignite the combustible material. Take a few oiled dust rags and put them in a closet under the stairs. If conditions are right a fire will ensue within a couple of weeks. Fires have started this way time and time again, in spite of the fact that the Bureau of Standards, the National Safety Council, and similar organizations have been warning people for years that greasy and oily rags should be kept in tightly closed metal cans provided for the purpose.

"For years people have been cautioned about the misuse of electrical appliances, and yet the electric iron alone is charged with no less than 37 per cent of all electrical outbreaks. Second to this comes the abused extension cord, which, trampled under foot, rocked on, squeezed in doorways, hung on nails, and subjected to numerous other punishments, finally blows up. In addition to recommending better care of extensions, the National Safety Council tells us that all such cords to bridge lamps, table lamps, etc., should be disconnected before any house is left vacant for any substantial period.

"Another way to start fires in the home is to tamper with the fuses. Remember that the fuse is the safety valve of the electrical circuit. Installing a heavy fuse in place of a lighter one is a mistake; the electrician or utility company who installed the light fuse knew how much current should be allowed to pass through it. Substituting a penny or a piece of wire for a fuse is unwarranted meddling which may lead to countless fires in homes.

"Finally, matches and smoking are the largest single cause of property destruction and loss of life. Every day such actions as leaving matches within reach of children, emptying ash trays into waste paper containers, and smoking in bed start fires.

"October 8 to 14 is National Fire Prevention Week, a good time for reminders. But care should be practiced all the year 'round to avoid the waste and pain caused by fire."

Barbaric Jewelry Late Style Fancy

Attention Centers Largely
On the Spectacular.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS
You may go as far as you like with no restrictions when it comes to spectacular jewelry. Attention centers on necklaces which are of barbaric splendor. So embellishing and ornate are the new necklaces they constitute the entire trimming feature of the majority of simple black frocks such as are so outstanding on the style program at the present moment.

Not only does fancy turn to massive gold effects, the majority of which interpret bib and plastron motifs formed of dangling fringes and such, but the newest necklaces are often of multi-colored stones worked out in a striking manner. A wide bracelet and matching earrings complete the ensemble.

Destined for tremendous vogue is the new gold bubble-bead jewelry. The coils and strands of gold beads look massive and give the impression of being heavy. In reality they are light as a feather. Jeweled gadgets pinned to coat lapels are smart this season as are also huge clips and brooches.

Perchance you are treasuring one or more big jeweled buttons that were cherished in the long, long ago by your mother's mother's mother. If so, fortunate are you. Lose no time in retrieving them from the old family chest, for in the present season's program old things have become new, especially jeweled buttons which are the last word in style, for the fastening of your smart evening coat of wool fabric or to adorn the fur-trimmed velvet jacket of your dressy afternoon suit.

Artichoke Green

For wear on early fall days, or beneath a coat during the winter, is this new shadow checked artichoke green (one of the season's smartest colors) wool dress with short matching jacket. The fabric is chenille woven into rabbit's wool and the belt is gold metal. This model was very much admired by the vast audience of visiting merchants who attended a preview showing of fall fashions presented recently in the Merchandise Mart, Chicago.

Vary Accessories For Fall Purse

Various purse accessories are slated to continue their popularity this fall. Combs and files in cases, ladies' wallets, leather cigarette cases and small, portable watches appear likely to be in considerable demand.

The greatest variety is likely to be found in compacts, where new designs taken from historic powder boxes and saffu boxes will be seen in large quantities.

Style Notes

Big tweed suit season is ahead. Corduroy stars for campus wear.

Gorgeously colorful stone-set jewelry will be worn this fall.

Gray is featured for hats as well as for dresses and coats.

Twists of gay wool knitting yarn trim turbans and brimmed felt hats.

Massive decorations of gold à la militaire adorn the fall costume.

Satin blouse for day, rich fabric blouse for evening is fall style message.

Collarless swagger of sheared beaver is college girl's favorite coat type.

The new lace-up-back corset gives the fashion-correct tiny waistline.

MAYBE FATHER WILL LIKE THESE?
(Recipes Below.)

Household News By Eleanor Howe

Foods Men Like to Eat

What are the foods that Father likes best—the fine, old-fashioned dishes—tasty, full of flavor, and perfectly cooked? He likes a meal to be composed of only a few foods; he wants to know what he is eating, and he does not want foods swathed in a blanket of whipped cream. In a word, fancy cooking is apt to be wasted on Father but he'll appreciate good cooking to the limit.

Left to his own devices, many a man would choose a diet of meat, potatoes, and pie. They're not particularly fond of vegetables—there men of ours—and when it comes to salads, it's a sheer waste of energy to serve them anything fancy. So a little judicious planning is necessary on our part in order to give Father his favorite foods and provide a wholesome, well-balanced meal in the bargain.

Each of these recipes, tested in my own kitchen, I've found to be prime favorites with men. Well prepared and attractively served, they'll go a long way toward establishing your reputation as a good cook.

Vegetable Soup. (Serves 6)

2 pounds soup bone
2 tablespoons fat
2 quarts cold water
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons barley
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 onion
1/2 cup carrots (cut in cubes)
1/2 cup celery (cut in small pieces)
1/2 cup potatoes (cut in cubes)
1/2 cup peas

Remove a portion of meat from cracked soup bone and cut into pieces. Brown in hot fat. Place browned meat, soup bone, seasonings, and barley in kettle and add cold water. Cover and cook until boiling point is reached. Then simmer about 2 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Cool and skim off excess fat. Add vegetables and continue cooking until vegetables are tender.

Devil's Food Cake.
(Makes one two-layer cake)
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
2 ounces chocolate
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Place 1/2 cup sugar, chocolate and 1 cup milk in saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add vanilla extract and cool. Cream butter and add remaining sugar. Separate eggs, beat egg yolks and add slowly. Then add cooled chocolate mixture. Mix and sift all dry ingredients and add alternately with the remaining milk. Bake in 2 well-greased layer-cake pans in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for approximately 25-30 minutes. Ice with boiled icing.

Apple Pie.
(Makes 1 pie)
Cheese pastry
6 cooking apples
Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup granulated sugar
Cinnamon
Nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Line a pie tin with pie crust. Peel the apples and cut in slices. Sprinkle the bottom of the pastry with flour, salt and granulated sugar. Pile in the apples, filling very full. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon, nutmeg, sugar and lemon juice. Cover with the top crust, crimp the edges together and score the top to allow the steam to escape. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for about 40 minutes.

Pigs-in-Taters.

(Serves 6)
8 large baking potatoes
6 tablespoons margarine
4 to 5 teaspoons milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

Paprika
1/2 pound small sausages (cooked)
Wash and dry potatoes. Place on rack in hot oven (500 degrees), and bake for about 45 minutes, or until the potatoes are done. Cut a slice from one side of each and scoop out the inside. Mash thoroughly, add margarine, salt and paprika. Refill the potato shells. Make a depression in the center of each, and arrange in it 2 or 3 sausages. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 10 minutes, or until brown.

Harvest Moon Doughnuts.
(Makes 24 doughnuts)

1/4 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
4 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Fat for deep fat frying

Cream butter and sugar. Beat in eggs. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick and cut with doughnut cutter. Fry in deep fat at 385 degrees until doughnuts are golden brown on both sides. Drain on absorbent paper. Sugar lightly if desired.

Hot Water Cheese Pastry.

(Makes 1 2-crust pie)
2 1/2 cup shortening
0 tablespoons boiling water
2 cups general purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon baking powder

1 cup American cheese (grated)

Place shortening in warm bowl, pour boiling water over it, and cream thoroughly with a fork. Place flour, salt and baking powder in flour sieve and sift gradually into the creamed mixture. Add cheese. Mix thoroughly. Make up into doughball, then chill in refrigerator. When ready to bake remove from refrigerator, divide dough and roll out. Line pastry tin with one portion of the pastry and proceed with desired pie recipe.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

JUST WHAT IS GOOD WILL?

A FEW months ago, according to that beguiling writer, Bruce Barton, a large factory caught fire. It burned to the ground. Sirens shrieked. Crowds milled. Firemen fought the flames. Newspaper reporters scurried here and there after stories. Consternation reigned.

Amid all this confusion the most serene man in sight was the president of the factory, he who should have been the most excited.

Alighting from his car, he strolled over to where that which he had spent years in building was becoming a total loss. He was calm, at ease, undisturbed.

A newspaper man spied him, asked him why he was no more concerned. He explained that the loss was fully covered by insurance and that, besides, the most valuable asset of the business hadn't even been touched by the fire.

"To what asset do you refer, Mr. Burlingame?"

"Why, to our good will. We can build a new factory—how we'll have to. We can buy new machinery—better machinery than was in the old plant. As long as the good will of a business is intact, nothing else matters," he concluded.

He was right. The most important thing a business man has is the good will of his customers. Every business which has that is successful; every business which does not have it fails.

Good will is not a mysterious quality like genius. It is a simple, commonsense matter depending upon doing simple, commonsense things.

The first of these consists of giving good value and service, that the business may win and hold friends. The second consists of making the fact that the business is the kind which wins and holds friends known to its customers, by telling them of its ideals and its services and its merchandise.

This telling process is called advertising. Whenever a manufacturer or a merchant advertises in the newspaper he informs you that he is the kind of business man whom it would pay you to patronize. He makes public the fact that he wants good will and that he realizes the only way he can keep it is by living up to his promises.

You as a customer get more for your money when you patronize a concern with good will. Good will is proof that the concern has done something to warrant the friendship and confidence of its customers.

You see, good will doesn't just happen. It is created—by good goods, by good service, by good advertising.

Its color is pale blue on the outside and a pale yellow on the inside.

FARMER IMPORTANT IN GAME PROGRAM

Aid Sportsmen With Wild Life Restoration Plan.

By JAY N. DARLING

The key figure in any program of wildlife restoration in the United States is the farmer.

The farmer controls that portion of the outdoors sought by the great majority of small-game hunters of the United States. Without a mutually beneficial relationship between farmer and sportsman, all conservation endeavor devoted to the increase of upland game fails of its prime object—the guarantee of sport to the general public.

It is true that the farmer has been the victim of the hoodlum type of hunter, and it is up to organized sportsmen to combat the evil of trespass on cultivated lands.

Excessive clearing and grazing have, at times, worked to the injury of the farmer through cutting down the supply of helpful wildlife. The drainage shark has promoted schemes that have impoverished the soil, lowered the water-table and wrecked the hopes of many a settler as well as destroying vast sources of wealth in fur, fish and wild fowl.

Man's ceaseless war against insect pests would be lost were it not for the help given by birds. Rodent pests are kept down by birds of prey. In certain areas the skunk, a heavy insect feeder and one of the few enemies of burrowing grubs, is highly important to agriculture. Other mammals—at times listed as "vermin" may be vastly more helpful than harmful to the farmers.

The assembling of source-material for education in schools and colleges, in the basic principles of conservation is the function of a committee established by the National Wildlife Federation.

Crop Rotation Kills Many Insect Pests

When one sees the annual loss to crops and property caused by insects, he is inclined to think that crop pests are getting more numerous and destructive from year to year. It is a fortunate farmer who has not experienced a loss from these six-footed animals. The Hessian fly takes a yearly toll of millions from American farmers. The chinch bug has ravaged our corn and wheat the past 50 years to the extent of several hundred millions of dollars. Figures in this state on codling moth, sugar beet web-worm and grasshoppers would be equally staggering. Moreover, several human diseases are carried only by insects. All can testify that gnats, flies, mosquitoes, etc., are an annoyance.

Where large acreages of one kind of crop are grown, one can naturally look for increased insect injury from year to year unless preventive and remedial measures are taken. The number of species that attack one plant is often large. About 200 attack clover, 200 affect corn, and 400 the apple. The first year the crop is grown, a person may assume that a few injurious insects will find their way into the field and do practically no injury. The insects will hibernate or pass the winter near by, and find conditions unusually favorable for development the next year should the same crop remain on the land. Each succeeding year the injury can be expected to increase.

On the other hand, where crops are changed the insects will emerge from winter quarters and find no food at hand. This will necessitate a search for it and only a few of the insects that successfully pass the winter will find their way into the new field. This is especially true of insects that pass the winter in the larval or worm stage and are not able to travel far. Of course, all insects cannot be controlled by crop rotation.

Minerals for Cow

The minerals that are used most by the dairy cow and therefore most likely to be lacking in the ration are calcium, phosphorus, and common salt. Legume hays, when grown on soils not deficient in lime, will usually supply sufficient calcium. An adequate supply of phosphorus can be secured from the grain ration if it contains as much as 30 per cent of feeds rich in this material such as wheat bran or cottonseed meal. The salt should be supplied by adding one pound to each 100 pounds of the grain mixture and also allowing the animal free access to it in the pasture or exercise lot.

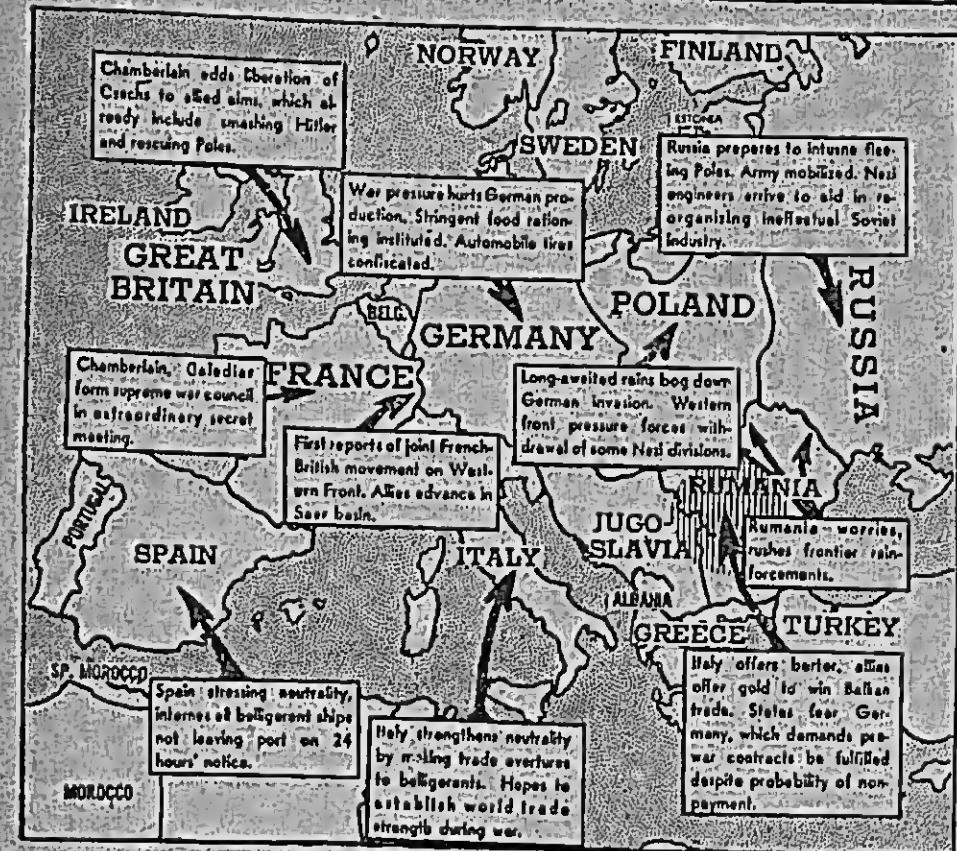

Perfect Percheron

Twelve leading live stock judges recently collaborated in setting up the Percheron standard, reported The Country Home Magazine. They agreed on medium size, short legs, thick bodies, heavy bones, short, straight backs, deep ribs, long, level croup, heavy muscles, moderately straight hocks, and reasonably long, sloping pasterns. Such a horse has life, action and alertness, and he can turn around without breaking down a dozen hills of corn.

A WEEK OF WAR IN MODERN EUROPE

The neutrals were also busy.

CONGRESS: Emergency?

Open for inspection this month is a choice collection of political anomalies. Whether Franklin Roosevelt made third term capital out of Europe's woes was only a guess, but the emergency of war caused strange things to happen.

"Junked," in Secretary Steve Early's words, was the "imaginary brain trust." Solidly whacked under presidential orders were Communists and Fascists. Brought into $1-a-year emergency posts were more anti-New Dealers than Washington has seen since Herbert Hoover left town.

Big business, the President's No. 1 foe, not only supported his "cash-and-carry" neutrality proposal, but one of its representatives, Industrialist Herbert Bayard Swope, said enthusiastically that "Mr. Roosevelt is going to keep us out of this war." Meanwhile the traditional big business party, Republicanism, was convinced the New Deal's hidden aim is to send American troops to settle Europe's quarrel.

Such Republicans as Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft and Vermont's Sen. Warren Austin plumped for cash-and-carry, as did many a lesser insurgent Democrat who last summer hated all that Franklin Roosevelt represents.

If this looked like harmony, observers had another guess coming. They had not reckoned with North Dakota's Sen. Gerald P. ("Neutrality") Nye, with Idaho's lionish Sen. William E. Borah, or with Missouri's Democratic Sen. Bennett Champ Clark. As the call went out for special congressional session, voices like these were raised in protest and warning. Isolationism again reached the fore.

Far from stubborn, Senator Borah merely wanted assurance of adequate debate on neutrality. He had no desire to "kill time," but was sure cash-and-carry "will inevitably bring us into war."

More alarming was Senator Nye, author of the present neutrality law: "Americans had better talk now before the gags of a declared emergency are placed. I expect that from here on the administration will be contending that every voice raised in opposition . . . is at once a pro-Hitler voice. Be that as it may . . . there will be . . . a complete demonstration to the American people of what the President's wishes will lead America into."

What gage he had in mind, Mr. Nye did not say. But there was every indication cash-and-carry neutrality, without gags, had a chance of getting through congress. Under proposed amendments any goods could be sold to a belligerent who bought it, paid for it and carted it away in his own ships. American ships would be prohibited from entering combat areas.

(Incorporated in New York was an agency through which French and British governments could buy war materials and other goods from their $7,000,000 war chest set aside for that purpose. Planned last spring, the agency replaces J. P. Morgan & Company, who acted in this capacity during the last war.)

One other question facing the President was how to get rid of congress once it had changed neutrality. Quite a case for continuous wartime session could be built from a Gallup poll which showed most Americans feel safer with congress in session. Moreover, special interests began clamoring for non-emergency legislation. California's Rep. Jerry Voorhis said congress must "correct the injustices of the last so-called relief act." New Jersey's Sen. Warren Barbour predicted passage of his anti-espionage bill. Everything considered, it looked like congress would sit for quite a spell.

INTERNATIONAL: The Neutrals

Biggest repercussion of war in the western hemisphere was the convening of 21 American republics at Panama City to safeguard neutrality, protect hemispherical peace and further economic co-operation. Biggest repercussions in the Far East were (1) shakeup of Japanese army leadership in China and Manchukuo to hasten an end to the Chinese war, and (2) German-inspired efforts for a non-aggression pact with Russia, thus checking the growing Japanese sentiment in Britain's favor. Though the government did not take these efforts seriously, there were expressed desires for a settlement of Russo-Jap border questions.

But the biggest neutral news came from Europe, pleasant and otherwise. Moscow's allegiance to Berlin was more marked than ever. German engineers arrived to aid Russian industry, thus indicating the Soviet will be Adolf Hitler's storehouse. While Paris radio reported all Soviet merchant ships en route to England had been ordered home, thus indicating a coming breach, the Soviet joined hostilities by shooting Polish craft which violated the frontier. Should enough such incidents occur, Russia might take revenge by joining Der Fuehrer in a new Polish partition. Completely mobilized, the Soviet was capable of almost anything.

THE WAR: Behind Scenes

"What kind of a war is this? The nation is puzzled. It expected war to mean an immediate clash of arms . . . Instead, there is little news . . . Nineteen out of twenty persons ask therefore this question: Are we making as decisive an attack . . . as our strength allows?"

Day after printing this editorial, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard had more news, not from the front but of carryings-on behind scenes. Secretly, Prime Minister Chamberlain and Lord Chatfield (minister of defense coordination) flew the English channel and met Premier Edouard Daladier and French Gen. Maurice Gamelin somewhere near Paris to form a supreme allied defense council. Thus was avoided one of the mistakes those nations made in their last war against Germany.

Next day Mr. Chamberlain, safely back home, told parliament he left the French meeting "fortified and encouraged." Not only would the allies trounce Germany, but they would rescue Poland and liberate the Czechs. Significantly silent following Field Marshal Hermann Goering's blast at Britain a few days earlier, Germany was apparently busy pursuing war on two fronts. Food rationing was extended, all auto tires were confiscated and a contraband-of-war list was decreed as a "defense measure" against British blockade. In Paris, smart Premier Daladier formed a 21-man war cabinet which included all parties except Socialist, whose Leon Blum refused to participate.

cent above normal domestic needs plus export requirements. If so, he had to propose marketing quotas for next year and submit them to corn belt farmers for approval or rejection. If approved by two-thirds, quotas would require farmers exceeding their allotments to store excess grain or pay a penalty tax of 10 cents a bushel.

Biggest factor working against quotas was last spring's abnormally large pig crop, which Mr. Wallace said would justify raising the quota level.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kruckman visited with relatives at Crystal Lake on Sunday.

Scholarly Intruder

Because an erudite Minneapolis burglar was catching up with his reading, the police caught up with him. The scholarly intruder entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farnham while they were absent. In the course of his ransacking he espied an interesting magazine. He comfortably propped his feet up on a table and became immersed in an absorbing story, oblivious of passing time. Meanwhile the owners returned and called the police, who escorted the bookworm away.

Cancer Skin Test

A skin test for early, subsurface cancer has been patented by Dr. Benjamin Gruskin of Temple university, Philadelphia, Pa. Dr. Gruskin developed the test during three years of research and is said to have used it with a high degree of success. It involves injection of an extract from the liver or pancreas into the skin; formation of a wheal around the injection indicates the possible presence of cancer.

To Begin Work on North Avenue Soon

Work will be started soon on the improvement of North avenue, Mayor George B. Bartlett announced today. Bonds for the project have been supplied through a professional bonding company. As soon as the bonds and contract have been approved by the state, the Central Improvement company of Waukegan, to whom the contract was awarded, will commence grading, draining and surfacing the street.

The contractor is anxious to start on the work as soon as possible, in order to take advantage of the favorable weather during early fall, it is said.

Contracts for a job of this sort have to pass through several formalities before work can begin, according to information secured from Village Clerk Roy L. Murrie. They go first from the village officials to the engineer, then to the contractor, then back to the village board. The board forwards them to the state highway department at Elgin. From there they go to Springfield, and finally, they must be returned, approved, to the village board before anything can be done on the job.

Colored Slides Shown in Talk by Photographer

Natural color photograph slides were used by James M. McNeany, Waukegan newspaper photographer, to illustrate a talk given before the Antioch Civic club at a meeting Monday evening in Robert's Merry Glen hotel, Lake Marie.

About 30 members were present to enjoy the 7 o'clock dinner and ensuing program.

Pictures of cloud formations, as well as some of sunsets, flowers and outdoor scenes, were among the most interesting ones displayed by McNeany on the slides.

Some of the pictures were taken from an airplane above the clouds. Chairman of the standing committees for the year appointed during the business session include the following:

Program, W. C. Petty; membership, Otto Klass; civic, Dr. G. W. Jensen.

Injured in Crash

Andrew Dalgaard and his son, Armond, are recovering from injuries they received Saturday morning in an auto crash at Racine and Harrison sts. in Chicago.

The accident occurred at 5 a. m., when the Dalgaards were on their way to the Water street market to buy supplies for the Dalgaard store. They were proceeding south on Racine st. and had reached the Harrison street intersection when a car being driven west on Harrison street struck them. Their delivery truck was damaged beyond repair, and Mr. Dalgaard was taken from the truck in an unconscious condition, while Armond was dazed and badly bruised. A police car took the pair to Mother Cabrini Memorial hospital, where several stitches were made in the elder Dalgaard's head to close a deep scalp wound. Later he was brought to his home here. Both are recovering and have been in the store as usual since the first of the week.
